

“Woe unto the bloody city of Lichfield”

George Fox, a historical re-enactment

George Fox, founder of the Quakers, also known as the Religious Society of Friends, preached up and down the country during the English Civil War and after. He and his followers were often thrown into prison because of their dissident views.

George visited Lichfield shortly after being released from Derby Gaol in 1651.

Join us for a free performance of this historical re-enactment.

Sunday 27th October, 2.30pm
Lichfield Market Square

Written and produced by Berry Dicker and directed by David Titley

Feel free to come in C17th dress if you wish!